

FU/BEST

Application instructions: please read carefully!

Before you start...

- Be sure to download and read the General Terms and Conditions of Business \(AGB\) and Academic Regulations and Code of Conduct for the FU-BEST program before completing and submitting your application. All participants must accept these General Terms even if your college/university/program provider pays us on your behalf.
- Please do not submit an application form completed with pen or pencil. Complete the form online.
- Note that successful transfer of credits earned through this program back to your own university, college or program provider in many cases requires you to obtain home institution approval prior to enrollment in FU-BEST. It is your personal responsibility to secure such approval.
- Keep in mind that course enrollment is carried out on a first-come-first-served basis. As a result, a) applying early is always a good idea and b) you may not get every course you select as your top choice(s).
- Please note the application deadlines (day of receipt in Berlin!): April 1 (Fall semester) and November 1 (Spring semester). Failure to observe these deadlines will jeopardize your participation in the FU-BEST program.

Important to know...

Finances:

- Applicability of financial aid from your home institution to this program is not a matter that we decide. Please check with your own college/university or program provider.
- Applicants will have a non-refundable 100 Euro Application and Technology Fee and 500 Euro first installment charged to their credit card after their formal admission to the program (early April for Fall and early November for Spring), unless they notify us within the deadline given upon formal admission of their intention not to participate. If a college/university/program provider pays your FU-BEST bill on your behalf, they will also take care of these fees, but you remain subject to the General Terms and Conditions of Business (AGB).

Visa and Immigration:

- If you are not a citizen of an EU member country, the USA, or Canada, you will almost certainly need a visa in order to enter Germany and participate in the FU-BEST program. It is your personal responsibility to obtain such a visa in the country where you are currently studying, using the admission letter we provide via e- mail. It is possible to arrange an appointment with a German consulate/embassy before receiving the admission letter so be sure to take care of this matter in a timely manner! For more information, you can visit the Admission Prerequisite section of our website.
- Students who need a German visa in order to participate in this program will in some cases only receive the necessary documentation to obtain such a visa after all fees have been paid. This is a decision made after review of the applicant's file.

- All non-EU participants are required to apply in Berlin for a permit which extends the customary 3-month limit on stays by visitors. This permit is issued by the Office for Foreign Residents (Ausländerbehörde) in Berlin; the relevant forms will be completed on site. The required fee is paid by the program. The photographs needed are made in Berlin and cost each participant around 10 Euros.

Health Insurance:

- You need proper health insurance for the duration of your studies in Germany – accident or emergency insurance will not suffice. Every FU-BEST participant will automatically be enrolled in the German Insurance Package.

When you're done...

Checklist:

- ✓ Did you provide full and correct information throughout the forms?
- ✓ Did you sign every page where it is required?
- ✓ Did you provide a full, prioritized selection of 20 courses, so that we can carry out all course placement options?
- ✓ Did you include a (copy of your) transcript, a small photo (portrait style), and a readable color photocopy of the main page of your passport with your application (if a passport is not yet available, please submit a color photocopy of your driver's license)? Your application will be considered incomplete without these items and remain unprocessed until complete!
- ✓ If you are opting for a homestay, did you include a 1-2 page self-introductory statement along with the rest of your application?

Completed applications should be sent to

Declaration of Financial Support:

- It is generally best to list your parents/guardians as source of support, even if all or part of your funds come(s) from other sources (including personal funds). Putting down “parents/scholarship” is also fine, in order to account for financial aid sources. Although this is a largely pro-forma statement for the immigration office, it must be submitted signed by a parent or guardian.
- If you are fully self-supporting, please contact us at info@fubest.fu-berlin.de.

DAK Insurance Waiver:

- All FU-BEST participants will be enrolled in our German Insurance Package and therefore have to apply for an exemption from the mandatory public German health insurance. Please make sure to sign the form so the program can take care of this on your behalf. Your personal information (name and date of birth) should carry over from a previous page.

When you're done...

- All forms need to be signed.

FU/BEST Conditions of Residence at Student Village or The Social Hub

1. Housing provided by Student Village/The Social Hub is a single-occupancy unit. Guests are not allowed.
2. All contents of the unit are to be treated with care. Each resident assumes full legal and financial liability concerning any damage caused by them or by those visiting their apartment. All damage is to be reported to the building manager. No participant is allowed to insert nails or screws or to affix tape to any of the doors or walls for (re)decoration or other purposes.
3. No furniture may be moved around between or among units or placed anywhere outside the unit.
4. Hallways and stairwells may not be used for meetings or gatherings.
5. Trash may not be left in any public area (Student Village/The Social Hub grounds, laundry room, foyer, stairwells, hallways, etc.). It should be sorted and disposed of properly in the designated area of the building complex.
6. Noise is to be avoided in all public areas (Student Village/The Social Hub grounds, laundry room, foyer, stairwells, hallways, etc.). Loud individual or group behavior is to be avoided at all times. The building complex is not a dormitory facility and not intended to be a site for excessive parties and other events.
7. Two or more specific complaints concerning noise, trash, etc. lodged against a FU-BEST participant by Student Village/The Social Hub building management may, depending on the severity of the complaints, lead to the participant's eviction from the unit, with no refund of the housing portion of the FU-BEST Program Fee. If such a situation arises, the evicted FU-BEST participant will be responsible to find their own alternative housing in the city at their personal expense. Any FU-BEST participant against whom a first complaint is lodged will be notified and warned accordingly.
8. At the end of the semester, each FU-BEST resident is responsible for setting up a checking-out appointment with the building management at an appropriate and mutually agreed time prior to their departure (excluding weekends and evenings). At the conclusion of the building management's inspection of the unit, the departing resident may be required to sign an Auszugsprotokoll ("moving-out declaration") to record possible damages to the unit.
If an appointment with the building manager cannot be arranged, the student must leave the unit in an orderly condition and deposit the key as directed by the building manager before departing from Berlin. In such cases, if there are any issues regarding damages and subsequent repair bills, the FU-BEST office will act as an intermediary between FU-BEST resident and Student Village/The Social Hub building management.
9. No FU-BEST participant who resided in Student Village/The Social Hub housing will receive a FU-BEST transcript until all repair and/or replacement bills that pertain to their period of residence have been fully paid.

I hereby declare that I have read and that I accept the conditions above pertaining to my residence in Student Village/The Social Hub housing rented on my behalf by the FU-BEST program.

FU/BEST Homestays: Rules, Regulations, Expectations

Staying with a family

- Please remember that you are living with a family, which means that there are certain social obligations involved vis-à-vis other family members. Be friendly and polite to everybody. Try to adapt as best as possible to new folkways and habits. And please remember: you have not booked a hotel, nor are you a simple renter. You are staying with a family and may be expected to make a contribution in the family household. Offer your help wherever you can.

Moving in

- As you move into your homestay, join your hosts in checking your room, making sure that everything is in proper condition. Ask questions if you are uncertain about anything. This way, you can avoid problems or disagreements regarding anything missing or broken later on.

Conflicts and differences

- Conflicting interests and various sorts of differences are a part of everyday life and must by no means have just negative consequences. The learning effect can be of great significance for the student as well as the host-family. Be ready to deal with potential conflicts or differences in an open and honest manner from the beginning. Do not let the situation reach the crisis stage. Discuss problems with your hosts first, before turning toward outside help. If you believe, however, that outside help is needed, the people to contact are Homestay Coordinator Carola Deutsch (carola.deutsch@freenet.de or tel. 030-8027857) or the Academic Director, Dr. Kristina Rödder (kristina.roedder@fu-berlin.de or tel. 030-83857587). Under no circumstances allow an issue or problem to fester unaddressed.

Meals and beverages

- As you know, breakfast and dinner (incl. beverages) are included in the FU-BEST homestay option. Additional food and beverages are not provided by the family and are thus a matter you are expected to take care of yourself. Perhaps you can be given some room in the family's refrigerator, etc. Please discuss these matters with your family and do not simply use their food and beverages without clearing things first.

Telephone use

- Most of you are likely to have a cell phone, so you have independent communication means. If you do not have a cell phone: please note that many German families have but one telephone. Please ask your family whether you are allowed to use it. Calls after 10.00 p.m. are to be avoided unless absolutely necessary. Do not use the family telephone for extended conversations, i.e., do not "hog" the phone. At the end of the month you may have to pay for your calls. Since calling overseas from a German cell phone is very expensive, you will need to get permission to use the family's regular telephone; in such a case, have the overseas person(s) call you back, so as to avoid unnecessary charges on the host-family's phone.

Internet

- Please do note the following: computer equipment and/or W-LAN access at your homestay must not be used for commercial purposes or in any way that infringes on state/federal/international laws regarding libel or copyright. The illegal download and storage of music and movies as well as the use of tools to access peer-to-peer networks at your homestay is not permitted. In sum: any illegal internet activity at your host-family's home is thus explicitly and fully prohibited. You carry full legal and financial liability with respect to any and all use of the internet via your homestay, including use by others who may join you during such use. Your homestay hosts assume no liability with regard to any damage or loss (e.g. due to a virus) resulting from use of their equipment. Use of the host-family's computer and/or wireless access is only possible if explicitly permitted by your hosts, and is subject to their conditions.

Energy/Laundry

- Energy is considerably more expensive in Germany than in the United States, so be prudent when using it. Please do not take unduly long showers (once a day), and switch off the light and turn down the heating in your room when leaving the house. You may be allowed to use the laundry machine on your own or the family will do the laundry for you. Again: think of the energy costs, so coordinate your laundry needs with your hosts.

Hygiene

- Please do not leave the bathroom (bathtub/toilet!) in a messy condition. Remove hair etc.. Clean up after using it. The same goes for your room. Make sure it is kept clean and tidy.

Communication regarding your presence and absence

- On a regular basis, when you leave the home, it is vital for the hosts to know when to expect your return. This is particularly important with regard to evening meals and when the family has other plans for the evening. Thus, please notify the family if you will be late or if you are planning to spend the evening elsewhere. Above all, let the family know in advance if you are spending the night somewhere else. Inform them about any (extended) personal travel plans as well.

Inviting friends/relatives and staying longer

- Inviting friends/relatives over for a visit is always possible, of course, as long as the matter is properly communicated and cleared with your hosts; this includes having friends/relatives participate in meals, but be aware that your financial contribution in such a situation may under certain circumstances be expected. In case anyone stays with you overnight, please note that this would be subject to prior approval by your hosts and that you are expected to pay a compensation of 22 Euro per overnight stay (incl. meals such as breakfast). Your homestay ends on the Sunday after the semester's conclusion. If you wish to stay a few days longer, clear this with your hosts first and expect to pay 22 Euro per extra day (incl. meals).

Family activities

- Some families are eager to explain their culture, traditions etc. Follow up on such invitations and, circumstances permitting, use your initiative in suggesting ways to become better acquainted with the local culture. Although you are by no means required to accept every invitation, please remember that you are not simply a renter and that the social and cultural experience is a crucial dimension of any homestay. Similarly, sharing your own culture with your hosts (including perhaps offering to cook a particular kind of food for them) is an essential aspect to consider.

Language

- Living in a family provides an excellent opportunity to apply those language skills learned in the classroom. Simple politeness demands that you quickly learn and use words and phrases such as thank you, please, excuse me, may I etc. Try to speak as much German as possible.

Liability and Code of Conduct

- Please note that your homestay is subject to the conditions spelled out in the Declaration of Personal Liability you signed as part of your application as well as in the program's Code of Conduct (posted on our website).

You have chosen to live in a family in a foreign culture: that takes some courage and motivation, so we congratulate you! The key concept, as in any society, is consideration of others. One cannot expect others to respect his/her own culture without readiness to make a serious effort to understand the culture of the country which one has chosen to live in. So, with that principle kept in mind, we wish you and your hosts a wonderful experience!

I hereby declare that I have read and accept the information and conditions laid down in this document.
